On 27 February 1951, the Dresden office will be opened on 27 Zwickauerstrasse, Dresden-A. The VEB Industrie Entwurf (industrial designing) Dresden provided 112 architects and engineers. Ten men were assigned by the Projects Office. Fritzsch (fnu) from Bau-Union Sued was chief of the branch office. The personnel was gradually to be increased to about 300 men. A basic amount of about 300,000,000 Eastmarks had been calculated as the cost for the entire object. On special request ten German professors had returned from Moscow to work as technologists. In about a year the entire Projects Office was to be transferred from Berlin to Dresden. The Dresden office did not release any sketches, not even for the Main Projects Office in Berlin. The project was handled as top secret.
